

Miles Brown is a leading Australian thereminist, composer and sound artist. A student of Russian theremin queen Lydia Kavina, he is known for his work with Melbourne instrumental electronic act The Night Terrors, and has performed with renowned artists such as Lou Reed, Laurie Anderson, Goblin, Black Mountain, Mick Harvey and Heirs. Miles' solo material explores the theremin and analogue synthesiser in the realm of dark dance and ethereal electronics. His debut solo album Séance Fiction is out now through Death Waltz Originals / It Records.

Thereminist and composer Miles Brown was born in Hobart, Tasmania, and cut his creative teeth in the experimental art / rock scene in Melbourne, Australia. With his band The Night Terrors, Miles has explored the theremin as a lead instrument in an electronic rock scenario, releasing five albums (The Night Terrors [2001], Lightless [2002], Back To Zero [2009], Spiral Vortex [2014] and Pavor Nocturnus [2014]), and touring Europe and Australia extensively supporting acts such as Hawkwind, Goblin, Serena-Maneesh, Melt-Banana, Boris and Black Mountain.

In 2009 Miles received an Australia Council grant to travel to Oxford (UK) to undertake a two month theremin mentorship with Lydia Kavina, the world's leading classical thereminist (grand-niece of Leon Theremin, the inventor of the instrument). He also attended the "Without Touch" Theremin Festival in Lippstadt (DE), performing alongside theremin greats such as Kavina, Carolina Eyck, and Barbara Bucholz.

Miles has also worked closely with Australian experimental industrial band Heirs, touring Australia and Europe and contributing to the records Fowl (2010) and Hunter (2012).

In May 2014 Miles was commissioned by the City of Melbourne to compose an album of music for the Melbourne Town Hall's Grand Pipe Organ. Pavor Nocturnus: Composition for Grand Organ, Theremin, Electronics and Percussion was recorded by The Night Terrors on Friday the 13th of July and launched on Halloween 31st of October 2014. The album was released by the cult UK label Twisted Nerve (run by legendary UK producer / music archivist Andy Votel), with a special edition also produced by UK film soundtrack specialists the Death Waltz Recording Company.

Miles Brown's debut solo album Séance Fiction was released in December 2015 by Death Waltz Originals (UK) / Mondo (USA) and It Records (AUS).

Miles has collaborated live with Lou Reed, Laurie Anderson, Marc Ribot, Goblin, Black Mountain, Bardo Pond, Alexander Hacke (Einsturzende Neubauten) & Danielle de Picciotto, Sinoia Caves, Melt-Banana, Mick Harvey, Oren Ambarchi, Fascinator, J. P. Shilo, Jason Simon (Dead Meadow), Dan Kelly, Mikangelo and Ash Wednesday.

He has also worked in a gallery context, exhibiting as a solo artist and collaborating with sculptor Monica Zanchetta (Sonance, 2008, 2010), fashion label Schwipe (7 years and we still broke, 2007) and playwright Duong Le Quy (Whispers From A Secret World, 2001).

Miles has scored music for the films Our Extra-Sensory Selves (2015, dir. Allison Gibbs), Insomnolence (2016, dir. Kiefer Findlow) and Watch Me (2016, dir. Briony Kidd), and contributed theremin to the animated series Dogstar (2011, 2016, dir. Aaron Davies) and the Dumb Ways To Die TVC series (2014).

In June 2017 Miles collaborated with Unconscious Collective and House of Vnholy for a 201km artwork featuring theremin, pipe organ, and experiential art installations in six churches from Launceston to Hobart as part of the Dark MOFO Arts Festival.

July 2017 saw Miles collaborating live with choreographer Natalie Abbott for (re)PURPOSE: the MVMNT, a world exclusive giallo ballet deconstruction of The Dying Swan (a key text in both ballet and theremin worlds) in a sold out season at Dancehouse, Melbourne.

He has also performed at the Melbourne Festival, Adelaide Festival, VIVID Live, St. Jerome's Laneway Festival, Big Day Out, Falls Festival, Paradise Music Festival, Melbourne Music Week, Homebake, High Vibes, Festival of the Sun, St. Kilda Festival, Queenscliff Music Festival, Polyhymnia (DE), Incubate (NL), Bracara Extreme Fest (Portugal) and Denovali Swingfest (DE).

Miles is currently Curator of Musical Instruments at the City of Melbourne.

milesbrown.com.au